of California Towns

NEW YORK, June 23.—Fourteen persons are dead and scores have been prostrated as a result of three days of the sweltering heat in this city. The suffering has been intense on the crowded East side, where ice is held at the prohibitive rate of forty cents for a hundred pounds. Thousands slept in the parks, on roofs and on the sands at the ocean beaches. The mercury was 81 at 3 o'clock this morning and steadily climbed the scale later until the heat was unbearable. Hundreds of mothers on the East side, bent on saving the lives of their babies spent last night in the streets. Many persons succumbed on many streets to the terrible heat. The price of ice jumped from thirty-five to forty cents per hundred pounds, making it impossible for the poorer classes in the congested part of the city to use it.

SACRAMENTO, June 23.—At noon today the official temperature was 90 degrees and it was predicted that the mercury would climb to ninety-eight. The hot wave is unusual so early in the summer.

Comfortable at Los Angeles. LOS ANGELES, June 23.—At noon the best the official thermometer could do was 73 degrees which made everyone feel comfortable. There are no indications of a heat wave coming.

STOCKTON, June 23.—The temperature is 93 in the shade here this afternoon. No ill effects have been reported.

Likewise in Oakland. OAKLAND, June 23.—This has been the warmest day of the season here, the thermometer at noon standing at 92 degrees. No discomfort was felt.

POLICE CAPTAIN IN HARD DILEMMA

Frisco Officer Shoots While
Drunk—Victim May Die—
Conberi is Held

SAN FRANCISCO, June 23.—Two unsuccessful attempts were made to remove a bullet which had pierced the lungs and spleen, and lodged near the spine of Barney Logan, Jr., the son of a prominent business man, who was shot last night by the Captain of Police, Michael J. Conberi. It is feared Logan will die. Conberi, who was intoxicated, is held in prison pending the outcome of the victim's injuries.

The story as told is that Logan helped a drunken man to his feet early this morning. Conberi approached and accused him of attempting to rob the drunken man. Logan resented the remark and pulled off his coat and started for Conberi, who warned him to keep off. Logan paid no heed, and Conberi fired. Conberi is a popular officer and has been on the force for thirty-one years. Edward McKenna and George Greenwood, who witnessed the shooting of Barney Logan by Captain Conberi, said this afternoon that the drunken man whom Logan was assisting, was Conberi himself. They said that Logan found Conberi holding to a post and when he tried to assist him to his feet, the officer became frenzied and fired.

It covered 3000 miles. No word has been received from the Shawmut car, which at the last report was twelve hours behind the Ford. Other reports that indicated it was but a few minutes behind, are now known to be false. It is believed that the Shawmut is stuck in the five foot drifts in Snoqualmi Pass.

JUDGMENT OF $25 FOR JAP

Among His Medicines Was a
Bottle Given by the Irish Comedian

Today in Justice Smithwick's court Nobu Mizuno secured judgment of $25 against R. C. Anderson, owner of the Kamama medicine show enterprise. The Jap acrobat sued for $50. On June 10, the day Mizuno and Anderson parted company, Mizuno had worked three days since pay day. He asked for $50 for the entire week's wages. The judge gave him $25 for the half-week.

The medicine men put in a cross-complaint asking that they have judgment against Mizuno for $32.50. It seems that Mizuno was sick. He said it was a cold. Kergan, the Kamama, said it was rheumatism. Mizuno testified that Kergan gave him three prescriptions, one of them for that known drug called quinine. He said that Kergan had him get a bottle of medicine from Tom Maroonney, who, besides having bottled medicine, seems also to be the Irish comedian. Mizuno said nothing was said about payment for Kergan's prescriptions or the Irish comedian's medicine, but after the suit was brought Anderson decided to ask the court to collect the bill. Kergan said that had Mizuno remained with the show there might or might not have been a bill.

When asked by Attorney Finley, representing the acrobat, what the $32.50 stood for, Kergan said it was $25.00 for each of three prescriptions and $25 for knowledge, science and advice. H. C. Head appeared as attorney for Anderson.

ARBITRATION AGAIN IS OFFERED BIRCH

Must be Stipulated No Arbitrator be Related to Interested Parties

MRS. ELLEN BURDICK HAS ACCEPTED PRICE

Teacher for Domestic Science
Department Elected Last Night

Arbitration along the same line that proved successful between the city Board of Education and Mrs. Ellen Burdick has been offered Otis Birch as administrator of the Smith estate. The offer was made at a meeting of the school board last night.

The school board has now closed with three of the four owners of property north of the high school, the Smith estate being the only one not settled with.

At the meeting of the school board last night, Director Anderson presented the following resolution:

"Resolved, That the secretary of the board be and he is hereby instructed to advise Otis Birch that this board has settled upon the purchase price of Mrs. Burdick's property by arbitration and is ready and willing to agree with him on the purchase price of the Smith property by another arbitration board, he to select two, the board two, and a fifth by a majority vote of the four so selected; provided, that Mr. Birch do not select any relative of himself or the Smith minors as his arbitrators, as this board deems it unwise to attempt to arbitrate again with any relative of the owners of the property, having failed in one attempt to do so."

This resolution was passed by the aye votes of Directors Hankey, Reinhaus and Anderson against the no votes of Directors Beatty and Hossler.

Beatty and Hossler took the view that condemnation would be the quickest and most conclusive method of reaching a settlement. One reason for entertaining this view is that whatever price is accepted by the Smith estate is open to a raise in open court before the sale is finally approved by the judge of the Superior court.

However, arbitration is offered, the offer stipulating that three arbitrators may select the fifth, and that there shall be no relatives of the interested parties named by the administrator, Otis Birch.

The Burdick arbitration board reported to the school board last night that the board had settled upon a price of $3250 for Mrs. Burdick's house and lot, and that Mrs. Burdick had agreed to accept the figure.

Architects Coming

Secretary Beatty was instructed by the school board to select eight architects and request them to appear before the school board Monday and Tuesday of next week to talk over plans for the two new grammar school buildings, the domestic science and manual training building and the addition to the high school, for which bonds were recently voted. From the eight architects those who will have charge of the new buildings will be chosen.

Teacher Elected. On the recommendation of City Superintendent of Schools Cranston the school board elected Miss Ida W. Burston teacher of domestic science for next year.

The president and secretary were authorized to sign a release to the Santa Ana Valley Irrigation Co. of the water stock on the high school property. When the land was purchased SEATTLE, June 23.—Governor James N. Gillett of California, who has been visiting the exposition, left today for Portland and he will go thence to Sacramento. He said he considered the exposition a success.

Discussing the Pacific Coast he said: "We should wipe out state lines, and, with one empire from Mexico to the Arctic ocean, work for the betterment of the whole coast."

He also said: "The shipping industry needs a ship subsidy law; otherwise we cannot compete with the foreign countries trading in the Pacific. We must ask congress to help and to this end every Pacific state should join in this work."

the former owner, Goldsmith, retained the water stock, and the release is merely formal.

ASKS PAROLE FOR BARNETT

Woman Seeking Release of Husband From San Quentin,
Sent There for Burglary

Yesterday Mrs. Carl Barnett of Los Angeles was in Santa Ana in the interests of securing for her husband, who is serving a six-year term in San Quentin, a parole from the state board of prison directors. She is a woman whose appeal will be met with respect. Her earnestness is striking. The woman is a cripple.

Carl Barnett is now serving his second term in San Quentin. When 18 years of age he was sent up from San Bernardino for burglary. On April 6, 1906, he and two other men burglarized Guggenheim's packing house in this city, stealing twenty-five empty sacks, seven bags of walnuts and two cans of honey. The plunder was found hidden beneath some hay beside the road near the Santa Ana river, west of Orange. Barnett was sitting in a wagon at the camp. In the wagon was a brace, two bullseye lanterns, a revolver and a rifle. Barnett was convicted and was sentenced to six years in prison. He was tried before Judge West, prosecuted by H. C. Head and defended by L. M. Hartwick. Barnett was sentenced on June 13, 1906.

Chun Sin Re-enacts the Death
Tragedy for Police Under Terrible Pressure

That Leon Ling, the fugitive slayer of Elsie Sigel, is hiding in some city on the Pacific Coast garbed as a Chinese woman, is the belief of the local detectives.

This belief is based on the discovery today that Ling came to the United States eleven years ago with a Chinese theatrical company and is an adept at female impersonation. All Chinatown is to be ransacked.

The theory of his flight is that he went to New Orleans and was smuggled into Mexico, then into Lower California, and from there was smuggled into San Francisco.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 23.—A Chinese believed to be Leon Ling, the murderer of Elsie Sigel in New York, was arrested here today. Beyond admitting that they have the Chinese in custody, the police will not make any statement.

RE-ENACTED THE TRAGEDY OF ELSIE SIGEL'S DEATH

NEW YORK, June 23.—Re-enacting the tragedy of the murder of Elsie Sigel the white missionary, by Leon Ling, her Chinese admirer, Chung Sin, who witnessed the crime, demonstrated to the police what took place in his friend's room on the night of June 8.

Chung Sin showed how he peeped through the keyhole and saw Ling strangle the girl. Chung Sin was constantly sweated by relays of detectives, not being allowed to sleep. The police hope therefore to get an inkling of the whereabouts of Ling, as these were the tactics that brought forth the prisoner's confession that he saw the murder.

Attorney Bishop appeared for the plaintiffs.

and Senator Root late this afternoon. It is this plan that was laid before the finance committee at the White House tonight and this is the plan that President Taft will insist on. The definite aim is to collect an excise tax of two per cent on the net income of corporations. By net income, under the terms of the bill, is meant the balance that is left after deducting the ordinary expenses of the corporation—maintenance and operation and interest actually paid on bonded or other indebtedness.

Bonds Are Exempt

This means that bonds will be excluded from taxation, but it will be explained on the floor of the Senate that this exception is made to prevent the stockholders from being subjected to dual taxation.

The corporation will be compelled to include in a statement to the government the amount of all sums paid within the year for federal, state, county or city taxes, and these amounts will be included in the gross earnings of the company, but deducted from the final amount on which the government tax of two per cent will have to be paid.

It is the publicity feature of the plan to which the President has given the greatest attention. This feature is declared by its friends, who may be described as the Roosevelt group of senators, to be as complete and comprehensive as it is possible to devise.

All Must Make Reports

Another important feature is the fact that all corporations whose net income is less than $5000 per year shall be exempt from the payment of the tax. Not even these corporations, however, will be exempt from reporting their gross and net incomes to the commissioner of internal revenue. All must report alike, and the commissioner, in assessing the tax, will see to the exemption of those who fall within the $5000 proviso. This plan has been devised in order to insure publicity as regards every corporation.

To avoid the constitutional restriction against unequal taxation which might be urged against the exemption of the smaller corporations, the law will provide that no corporation shall pay a tax on the first $5000 of its profits. That is to say, a corporation whose net income is only $5000 per year will pay no tax at all, a corporation whose net income is $10,000 will pay a tax on $500, and so on.

FORD LEADING SEATTLE RACE

Shawmut Eight Hours Behind in Snoqualmi Pass

Ocean-to-Ocean Auto Contest Now Almost Over

Big Reception Awaits Weary But Plucky Drivers

(From Los Angeles Times)

SEATTLE, June 22.—Hundreds of automobile enthusiasts in their private cars are smashing the state anti-speed law to smithereens in an effort to reach Snoqualmi Pass in time to act as escort to the cars leading in the ocean-to-ocean contest promoted by M. Robert Guggenheim and the Seattle Automobile Club. Mr. Guggenheim called on Mayor Miller today and secured the promise of executive assistance in keeping Second avenue clear when the contesting cars pass through the city, and the mayor assured him of at least 100 patrolmen to assist in bringing about a whirlwind finish. It is expected that the leading cars will be but a few minutes behind each other.

King county has spent $1200 on the county road between North Bend and Snoqualmi Pass to facilitate the work of the contestants.

At 10 o'clock tonight a special dispatch to the Post Intelligencer from Ellensburg stated that the Ford No. 2 and the Shawmut automobiles, nine hours apart, passed through that town today. The Ford was in the lead, with B. W. Scott at the wheel and C. J. Smith, the machinist, asleep at his side. Guy C. Williams took the driver's place at Ellensburg and will pilot the car into Seattle. That was at 7:45 a. m. The Shawmut tore through the town at 5:30 tonight, stopping only ten minutes to restock with motor oil and gasoline. T. A. Pettengill was driving, and R. H. Messer acted as mechanic, and they did not appear to be as badly used up as were the crew of the Ford.

The Shawmut reached Ellensburg at 5:17, having made up fifteen minutes on the day's run. Ford No. 1 is not reported at any point in Washington.

Thousands Await Winner

M. Robert Guggenheim left tonight in his eighty-five-horse-power racing machine to meet the contestants. All arrangements have been perfected for the finish of the race. The car that passes the main entrance to the Alaska-Yukon-Pacific Exposition first will be declared the winner. Thousands of people, including photographers, newspaper representatives and many women, are assembled in front of the gates tonight in anticipation of the winner's arrival, but it is not expected that they will reach here before 3 o'clock in the morning, as there is much snow in the passes.

Henry Ford, president of the Ford Motor Company, arrived in Seattle tonight to witness the arrival of his car.

With the Ford car No. 2 and the Shawmut car, the two leading contestants in the race, winding their way through Snoqualmi Pass, in the Cascade mountains, out of reach of telephone and telegraph, the outcome of the race, now rapidly approaching an end, is very much in doubt.

Although the Ford No. 2 entered the pass fully eight hours ahead of the Shawmut car, the latter has a chance to catch the leader should the snow in the pass be as heavy as reported.

There is no snow on the right of way of the Chicago, St. Paul and Puget Sound Railroad, which crosses the range through this pass, but it is reported that in the wagon road below there are deep drifts and long snow banks.

Ford car No. 2 passed Easton, the entrance to the mountains, ninety miles east of Seattle, at 1 o'clock this afternoon. The Shawmut car reached Ellensburg, forty miles east of Easton, at 5:17 o'clock p. m., eight hours behind the Ford car. At that time the driver said he stood a good chance to catch the Ford car in the mountains. Ford car No. 1 is reported broken down near Prosser, 214 miles east of Seattle.

The winner will receive the Robert Guggenheim silver trophy and $2000; the second car will receive a price of $1500.

PRESIDENT MUST DECIDE POLICY TOWARDS TRUSTS

Final Action Has to be Taken Soon—
Air Machine Experiment to Soon
Take Center of the Stage

WASHINGTON, June 23.—Events may shortly determine what the policy of President Taft is to be towards the work that has been carried on by the Bureau of Corporations. A large number of the investigations which were started by the former administration are in various stages of completion. They include the following subjects:

Tobacco and Harvester trusts. Conduct of the Cotton Exchange. Water transportation. The timber resources, in the public domain and in private holdings. The Steel trust. The Sugar trust. Complete reports on water power, timber, steel, cotton and tobacco are now in Commissioner Smith's hands awaiting final supervision.

The Bureau has been subject to some criticism because it carried along the investigation of the tobacco trust after the Department of Justice had successfully prosecuted its suit under the Sherman anti-trust law. The case is now before the Supreme court, but the report of the Commissioner is not yet ready for publication.

Just what shape the Harvester trust inquiry has taken is not known. Months before the close of the Roosevelt administration, Attorney General Bonaparte was endeavoring to have the Bureau of Corporations abandon its inquiry in order that he might begin the action against the harvester people which he announced he was prepared to do. Just why he had a delicacy in beginning suit, when he did not hesitate in the case of the tobacco trust, is a mystery. Any way, it is recognized in the middle west that the failure of the government to get after the harvester trust at that time resulted in the defeat of Senator Hansbrough, of North Dakota. He even tried to get Congress to pass a resolution directing the Commissioner of Corporations to abandon his investigation, but failed because his colleagues contended that the matter was one susceptible of adjustment between the Attorney General and the Secretary of Commerce and Labor.

Another act in the drama of aeronautics is to be played upon the world stage, with Fort Meyer for a setting, during the closing days of June. In many ways it will mark the climax of the brilliant play that has been in progress since last summer, crammed with more melodrama and tragedy and comedy than the feverish imagination of the modern author of the ten-twenty-three variety of spectacle could devise in a life time.

The Wright brothers will come to Washington from their home in Dayton, O., as soon as the Congressional medal has been handed to them, and A. M. Herring of New York, if his hopes are realized, will come also to compete with them for the plaudits of the multitude.

In many ways the spectacle will be a study in national temperament. Americans are not inclined to let loose their enthusiasm as the French and Spanish and Italians at the first hint of achievement. The Signal Corps of the army, which in this particular instance is the nonchalant onlooker, is more careful of its enthusiasms than the people at large, and Congress, the deep, dark villain of the piece, cannot be pried loose with the overworked Archimedian lever. If the two aeroplanes soar with the facility of their builders' expectations it is going to be amusing to watch the effect on the Congressional countenance.

It is no easy test that the Signal Corps has mapped out for the air navigators. The specifications of the contract which they must fulfill before they can get any of the government money are exacting, as may be seen from the following paragraphs:

"The machine must be designed to carry two passengers having a combined weight of about 350 pounds, also sufficient fuel for a flight of 125 miles.

"The machine should be designed to have a speed of at least 40 miles per hour in still air. The trial speed flight shall be over a course of more than five miles, against and with the wind.

A trial endurance flight will be required of at least one hour. The machine shall return to the starting point and land without any damage that would prevent it immediately starting upon another flight. During this trial flight of one hour it must be steered in all directions without difficulty and at all times under perfect control and equilibrium.

"Three trials will be allowed for speed and three trials for endurance."

It may be said frankly that when these specifications were drawn up neither General Allen nor any of the officers of the Signal Corps had an idea that they could be carried out by inventors. Wilbur and Orville Wright were at that time unknown except for certain mysterious flights they were said to have made among the Carolina sand dunes. But genius is persistent. When the specifications were submitted to the public, thirty-five inventors submitted bids. Of these two were accepted, Herring failed to try the test. Orville Wright astonished the world until the fatal accident in which Lieutenant Selfridge was killed brought the demonstration to an abrupt end.

BURGLAR TAKES SAVINGS BANK

Garden Grove Resident Misses
Old Coins and Certificates of Stock

GARDEN GROVE, June 22.—Some person entered the house of Mr. E. Beardsley some time between Saturday night and Monday and took from the house a small savings bank which was itself much thought of, having been in the family for quite a number of years. The bank contained many old coins both foreign and domestic and also valuable papers among which were five certificates for stock in a grain elevator in Maxwell, Kansas. Nothing else has been missed so far.

The family was not aware of the theft until Monday when the bank was found in a eucalyptus grove near the house, broken and badly mashed. One of the papers was found near Mr. Beardsley's engine house.

BIG HONEY CROP FOR THIS SECTION THE PREDICTION

Los Angeles Dealers Say That Output Will Double That of 1908

Orange county is going to have a big honey crop this year. The bloom has been hanging on well and the weather has been such that the bees have kept busy. The apiarists are a well pleased people.

The Los Angeles Express says: "The Southern California honey crop for this season will be about twice as large as that of last season, although it will not be quite so large as was first expected."

"The season now is drawing to a close and within two weeks practically all of the crop will be gathered. The cold, cloudy weather of the past two months is responsible for the light crop. When the weather is dull or foggy the bees cannot work, and consequently this season's production has fallen short."

"H. J. Mercer, the only exclusive wholesale honey dealer in Los Angeles, who handles a large per cent of the honey crop of the state and who has just received reports from the honey producing districts of the South, says:

"From the present indications the honey crop for this season will be about 200 carloads. Although this is only about one-half of a normal crop in a good season, it is good considering the unfavorable weather conditions."

"There have been years in which the Southern California honey crop has run as high as 600 carloads, but those were odd years when there was an unusually large number of sunny days."

Newhall Reports Best
"The best crop reports are from the Newhall district, where it is estimated that 35 carloads will be shipped. Imperial comes next with about 30 cars and the San Diego district probably will produce the same amount."

"From the Riverside-San Bernardino section we expect about 20 carloads. Inyo county will send about 15 carloads and the districts south of Bakersfield will send about the same amount. The other 55 will come from scattering points from Bakersfield in the north to the Mexican line. In about two weeks the crop will all be in, and we will begin shipping."

"There are comparatively few people in Los Angeles who realize the important part the busy bee plays in the commerce of Southern California."

"Southern California leads the world in the production of honey from a commercial standpoint. The perennial sunshine of this section allows the bees to work a much longer period than in the colder sections of the country."

Many in Bee Business

"There are more than 8000 people in Southern California engaged in the production of honey solely for commercial purposes. There are a number of apiarists who have over 1000 hives, and owner of 500 are common."

"Southern California honey is shipped to all parts of the world, and to a certain extent the entire United States is dependent on Southern California for honey shipments. While several other states raise large quantities of honey, it is all consumed locally, and none is shipped.

"After California, Texas is second and New York third in the amount of honey produced, but the local demand in these states absorbs the supply, and these districts draw on Southern California to supply the demand when the supply runs short."

"With the exception of about 25 cars consumed locally, all of the honey raised in Southern California is shipped from the state."

"The largest part of the honey shipped is extracted—that is, it is separated from the comb and placed in cans, 10 gallons to the case. A great deal of honey is also shipped in the comb, just as it comes from the hive."

"Grading is done by color. The best honey is the water-white, which is sage honey. It has a better flavor and commands a better price than the light amber grade, which is made from buckwheat and horehound blossoms, and other mixed blooms."

"It is early to predict probable prices, but I should judge that they will be about the same as last year, and possibly a little lower."

PROHIBITION MOVEMENT

A popular magazine has been investigating the general reaction in this country against the liquor traffic with a view to ascertaining its extent, and also the causes leading up to it, as well as the prospects as to future developments. As to "the geography of the temperance movement," it is found that there are now nine states under prohibition, totaling in population 15,000,000, and that six of said states have been added within the year and a half just passed. But there are actually living within prohibition territory in the United States 35,000,000 persons, 10,000,000 of whom have been added within the last five years. There are seven dry cities that exceed 100,000 in population, and 46 that exceed 20,000 in population. In all there are 350 cities exceeding 5000 in population that are under prohibition, of which nearly 100 have been added within the last three years. Illinois has closed on an average of 100 saloons a month for the last fifteen months.

It is found on examining the reports of the United States Department of Labor that the industries are backing up the temperance movement in an effective way by discriminating against those employees who are addicted to drink. The lists include ninety per cent. of the railways, seventy-nine per cent. of the manufacturing, eighty-eight per cent. of the trades and seventy-two per cent. of the agriculturists, and the great organized labor movement is ranging itself in the same line. Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation is quoted as saying: "Fifteen or twenty years ago the common meeting place of the labor union would be the saloon or the room adjoining a saloon, but we have changed all that. I would not say that it is never done, but the whole influence of the Federation is against it."

It is stated that the most determined campaigns of education are now being carried on over the country, and that the outlook for the liquor business was never darker than at this time.

As to the causes that have worked and are working against the traffic four are assigned: First, it has been convicted of being the cause of "the biggest part of the crime and pauperism" of the country; second, it is alleged, that it is responsible for, or an ally of, "dirty politics, town and county graft, and big municipal graft" that is so rampant the country over; third, "that the license money which the people ostensibly receive from the liquor traffic is a mere drop in the bucket compared to the actual cost of the liquor traffic to the community in which it is permitted to exist; and fourth, that experience has shown abstinence to be a prime requisite to success in all legitimate business."

Another quotation for the special benefit of those who may have forgotten some things. It is as follows: "Outside of its natural cussedness, its inherent crimes, and its constitutional nuisances, there is one additional reason why the liquor traffic ought to have all the grief it now endures, and then some. This reason is the perennial insult which it offers to intelligent citizens in the argument that the local liquor traffic 'provides for public improvements' and 'makes business.' Of course this is clap-trap of the most puerile and childish brand."

LEARNING IS NOT ALL

Bishop Johnson addressed the graduates of the State Normal School Sunday at St. Paul's cathedral church, Los Angeles on the subject, "The Public School System." He dwelt at length upon the evils of attempting to teach religion in our public schools, saying, however, but little as to the evils of teaching irreligion. He also took the ground that morality was not a proper thing for the state to undertake to teach. He said: "Because the state has generously shared with them in the task of the intellectual training of their little ones, we have no right to throw upon her the blame which belongs to the parents when their children fall below the moral standard." And again: "I am not familiar with the exact terms under which you are to secure positions in the schools, but the understanding, stated or implied, is that you will confine yourselves to the mental training of the children committed to your care."

The learned bishop is evidently right in the statement that he is not familiar with the terms under which graduates are to secure positions in the public schools. Had he been he probably would not have made the other remarks attributed to him.

It is evident that our state salons do not agree with the conclusions of Bishop Johnson on the subject of teaching morality in the public schools. Section 1702 of the Political Code of California, reads as follows: "It shall be the duty of all teachers to endeavor to impress upon the minds of the pupils the principles of morality, truth, justice and patriotism; to teach them to avoid idleness, profanity and falsehood, and to instruct them in the principles of a free government, and to train them up to a true comprehension of the rights, duties and dignity of American citizenship."

The contract, therefore, between the public and the teachers in the public schools is just the opposite of that stated by the Bishop, and in order to fill its terms they must necessarily disregard his advice. The law specifically commands them to teach morality, and if they fail in this they are false to their trust.

But it is more than a matter of statue—it is a matter of self-preservation. The suggestion advanced by the Bishop, to the effect that the state is not to blame if the children fall below the moral standard, would form an interesting subject for discussion were it pertinent to the question. But it is not.

The question is not as to who is to blame for the moral delinquencies of the children, but how such moral delinquencies shall be prevented. It is a matter of self-preservation for the rising generation to be imbued with the principles of morality, and just as much so as that they shall have scientific training.

Mental and moral culture must go hand in hand. Otherwise the training of the mind will but reinforce the criminal and endow him with the greater power for mischief. The state does not, as intimated by Bishop Johnson, undertake the education of children through generosity, but for the protection of itself from ignorance. By the same token it has undertaken to educate its young along the lines of morality, holding it to be fundamental to free government.

The section of the school law above quoted, is commended to the careful consideration of the Bishop, as well as to all the teachers in our public schools. Also section 25 of the rules and regulations adopted by our State Board of Education is presented to the attention of all school trustees and members of city boards of education: "Section 25. Every Board of Trustees or City Board of Education shall purchase and display in each school room, or from a flagstaff on each school house or on the grounds thereof, a flag of the United States, and purchase in like manner whatever may be needed for the display or preservation of the flag."

Let enlightenment, morality and patriotism go hand in hand and we need have no fear for our country.

POLITICAL TALK

Gentle voter, can it be? Are we dreaming, or are we guessing? Can it be that S. O. Walker, one-time Espee politician from Buena Park, heralded mouthpiece of Walter Parker in this fair county of ours—our Sim, who moved away from us and went to Tulare to live—can it be that S. O. Walker has lost his grip on the Board of Supervisors and the powers that be? Or was it just a slip?

We rise up in meeting to ask these questions. The reason for our inquisitiveness at this particular time is that there was an appointment made at the courthouse early this week, and S. O. Walker's name failed to land the job.

Now wouldn't that jar you! S. O. Walker has a brother and his initials are J. P. He lives over at Long Beach. A year ago when S. O. Walker was still among us as a resident politician, there approached that time of year when the Board of Supervisors must name a county expert. Be it known that a county expert is a man who noses over the records at the courthouse, who adds up the columns of figures already added up by the auditor and others, to see if the auditor and others added correctly; who balances some things the treasurer has done and eyes the warrants passed by the supervisors. There are a good many men in Orange county who know as much about "figgers" as a few who might live elsewhere. But S. O. Walker's brother was out of a job. Orange county had refused to elect Walker sheriff—but that is another story.

(Sidelark between S. O. Walker and D. A. MacMullen, chairman of the Board of Supervisors).

Presto, and the job went to J. P. Walker of Long Beach. Salary $5 per day.

Days passed and the job was not completed. Others, who lived in Orange county, and in years before had held the position, completed the expediting in quick order.

But with J. P. not so. The supervisors, some of them, thought it were well to go way back to the time of Adam, back to the date in history before Los Angeles experts were brought here to bring the books down to the present administration, back of the reports of grand jury experts—forthwith, J. P. and his job were at the courthouse many weeks.

The time for the appointment of a county expert for 1909 rolled around. Straightway down from the tules of Tulare came S. O. Walker, and along about the same time there was filed the application of J. P. Walker (of Long Beach) for appointment to the job.

Rumor has it that MacMullen was willing, but Ed. Vegely had a close personal friend on the board in G. W. Angle, and Angle had promised before S. O. got at him. And there were one or two—not Angle—who were disgusted through and through with the long-drawn-out hand-out of the year previous, the hand out to the brother of S. O.

It was so ordered by the chairman that the election of county expert be postponed—things weren't looking good for J. P. The Walker suggestion wasn't the sure thing it was a year or two ago.

And on Monday, with MacMullen absent, Ed. Vegely was elected county expert.

ty expert. There is yet to be found one who will say that MacMullen didn't want to appoint the Long Beach man.

Speaking of "figgers" and jobs long drawn out, one cannot help bringing to mind a job that is existing at the courthouse, one that was unknown to the Board of Supervisors until last fall.

That job is the so-called county's deputy (in reality auditor's deputy) for preparing a statistical report. The fact that such a job could be made to live and have a being was explained to the board by County Auditor Lester. The state law provided for this annual financial report.

The board—the control, at least—seemed agreeable, quite agreeable. The salary was set at $40 a month, and the deputy in County Auditor Lester's office began drawing the $40. The financial report was long since made and forgotten. The financial report may have been worth all it cost, but the point just now is that it is not yet through costing. The auditor may have gotten so in the habit of drawing a warrant for his deputy's salary, while other county officers pay their deputies out of their pockets, that the habit has become chronic. Some taxpayers might even wonder if the habit is the kind they like.

A few days ago we heard a fair-minded, honest citizen of West Orange precinct making remarks about roads—not about good roads or Cecil Rhodes or corrodos, but about—BAD ROADS. It would seem that the ordinary rancher-voter can forgive a supervisor for doing almost any kind of politics. He can overlook sarcastic demeanor and a disposition to be the whole show—circus tent, manager and menagerie. But, by the holy smoke, he can't get over bad roads without thinking of his supervisor in unforgiving terms.

This West Orange man said that if "Doc" MacMullen ran for supervisor again, his roads would beat him if nothing else would.

All that saved MacMullen's skin the last election was a piece of successful manipulation. Some wise guys got Toothacher in the notion of running for the nomination for coroner and public administrator on the Republican ticket. Toothacher was in the running—not for a minute. But he had been like Barkus, plenty willing.

Some of MacMullen's friends—the same who had assisted in boosting Toothacher for coroner—boosted Toothacher for the Democratic nomination for supervisor, and it went to Toothacher by default. Then when the race was begun, the story went out that Toothacher had tried to get a Republican nomination, and it was all off with Toothacher.

Had some well known citizen like D. C. Pixley been out against MacMullen, MacMullen would have remained at Olive about two to one.

This much is certain, if MacMullen can persuade some large numbers of voters who have been kicking themselves because they voted for him last time to vote for him again, he will be going some.

In these columns there has been comment from time to time of possible and probable candidates for county offices a year from now. There is one man who is an avowed candidate for office who has not been mentioned. He is Theo. Winbigler of Santa Ana. Winbigler is going to ask the Republicans to nominate him for coroner and public administrator. Winbigler is a popular man. So is Geo. Smith, as Smith has demonstrated politically in the past, and should Winbigler and Smith enter the primaries against each other it will be a race of two mighty will-like men.

Can it be that friends of A. I. Stewart of Fullerton started the story that W. M. Scott is not going to be a candidate for re-election as county assessor? Certainly the story was out and many believed it. Certainly Scott never gave anyone authority to make the statement. Scott's close friends say that as a matter of fact, Scott has not concluded to quit the courthouse. And that is about all there is to be said upon the subject just at present. Stewart of Fullerton, makes no odds about saying he is after the job. If he gets it, there seems to be no question but what he will have to beat Scott at the primaries.

Without regard to state politics, the working out of the direct primary in our county politics is going to be an interesting matter. It doesn't seem possible that a comparatively unknown man, one who cannot be called a popular man personally, can gain a nomination over a well-known popular man. Yet much depends on that day on getting voters to the polls.

Some of the north-end politicians are afraid that the control of the nominations will go to the county seat and Orange. It is much easier for a resident of Orange to acquire and hold a wide acquaintance in Santa Ana man than it is for a Fullerton man or an Anaheim man.

Some of the north-enders believe that it may be that no north-end man can get a nomination without a following at the county seat, so large will be the vote cast by Santa Ana at the primary election.

If that all be true, how will Stewart line up against Scott?

Orange county resorts are popular. The names of many of the noted people of Southern California are seen in the list of those visiting at Newport, Huntington Beach, Bay Island and others. Today the First Methodist Sunday school of Los Angeles is picnicking at Anaheim Landing.

W.C.T.U. Holds Patriotic Meeting

The lawn at the home of Mrs. W. W. Crosier, 1314 North Main street, was the scene of a very "patriotic" event yesterday afternoon, when about seventy-five members and friends of the W.C.T.U. assembled there to hold an "open air" meeting. The lawn presented a beautiful appearance with the stars and stripes waving here and there, with a large Japanese umbrella in the center, and with the many comfortable chairs, seats, cushions, etc., that conduce to comfort as well as decoration. Everybody present enjoyed the delightful afternoon.

The subject for discussion was "A Patriotic Fourth of July," and the occasion was one of those popular mothers' meetings. Many children were present with their mothers.

Mrs. Crosier was assisted in the program by Mrs. Garnett and Mrs. Gale. Mrs. Garnett led the devotional service, and Rev. Chas. H. Secombe of the Congregational church, led in prayer.

Mrs. Gould gave an interesting reading, "Rodney's Ride," and Mrs. Hill read a selection on "Forbidding Fireworks on the Fourth of July." Mrs. Frank Harris sang "The Star Spangled Banner," accompanied by Mr. Harris on the cornet. A recitation by Delia Ramsey was followed by the recitation, "Naughty Nell," by Elsie Wingood.

Rev. Mr. Secombe gave a splendid address on "A Sane Fourth of July," saying in part:
"Every national holiday has its own mission. Thanksgiving Day is not celebrated like Memorial Day. We need to guard Thanksgiving Day that it may not become a day alone for pleasures, forgetting its origin. The same can be said of Independence Day, the day we became an independent nation. We are fast drifting away from the original way of celebrating the Fourth of July. It is becoming a dangerous day. The hoodlum element takes advantage of privileges given them and forget the true patriotism of the day."

"The idea of a sane Fourth of July is the coming together of a community, the reading of the Declaration of Independence and having the boys and girls take part in the celebration other than by the shooting of fireworks. In all the days we celebrate, we should keep restraint on the things that keep the day from being patriotic."

It was decided that the W.C.T.U. should co-operate with the city in celebrating a "Sane Fourth of July" in Santa Ana in 1910. A vote of thanks was tendered Rev. Secombe for his splendid talk.

During the business hour, the president, Mrs. W. B. Tedford, who has recently returned from a trip to Pacific Grove, gave an interesting account of the temperance work in the north. The resignation of Mrs. M. L. Tillotson as first vice-president was accepted with much regret. Many kind words of appreciation were said of Mrs. Tillotson for her faithful and efficient services rendered the W.C.T.U. during the twenty years she has been in the work in Santa Ana. Mrs. J. N. Anderson was made first vice-president, and Mrs. Lizzie Mills was elected second vice-president. There will be no meeting of the W.C.T.U. during July and August, and the first meeting in the fall will be held in Birch Park on Sept. 7, when Mrs. Tillotson, Mrs. H. J. Forgy and Mrs. J. E. Glee Club Girls Entertained

Last evening in room eleven of the High School the Glee Club girls gave a spread for their director, Miss Mae Pendry, and the boys of the club.

The room was decorated in the High School colors, red and white, and the club colors, blue and white, also with penants and cut flowers. Rockers, sofas, settees, rugs and pictures transformed the place into a reception room. After the usual practice the committee, Misses Zoe Vanderlip, Lillian Rutherford, Mary Collins, and Cora Seifert brought forth the main feature of the evening, the refreshments of strawberry and pineapple ices, cakes, nuts, fruit and popcorn. All voted the affair a success and bade farewell to the glee club and its director for the summer vacation.

A Garden Grove Wedding

On Tuesday afternoon, June 22, the home of Mrs. Margaret Beswick at Garden Grove, was the scene of a very pretty wedding, when her granddaughter, Ethel Grace, plighted her troth in marriage to Frederick Henry Jones. None but immediate relatives and nearest friends of the bride and groom were present. At 3 o'clock the bridal party entered, led by the Rev. W. H. Wotton, rector of the Episcopal church of Santa Ana, and the beautiful impressive ring ceremony of that church was used. The young couple were attended by the bride's father and mother. The father gave the bride away and the rector pronounced them man and wife. The groom wore conventional black and the bride was attired in a becoming traveling gown of blue silk.

After congratulations were extended, refreshments were served. Then with showers of rice and good wishes the guests began to take their leave. Many good and substantial gifts were presented, so that the young people will have occasion oft, as they sit together at the new family board, to remember their wedding day.

The groom is a young man of sterling qualities and by trade an oil well driller, and the bride is the second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Beswick of Newport Heights. After this week the young folks will be at home at Maricopa, Kern county, Calif.

The Salad Club

The Salad Club girls met at the home of Miss Blanche Tiede last night and the evening was made delightful for the club. A fruit salad was served at the tea, which is one of the sociable and interesting features of the club meetings.

Guests of the occasion were the Misses Stephenson of Kansas, who are guests of Miss Sina Huff, and Miss Gertrude Borden of Denver, Colo.

Basket Ball Party

One of the pleasant social events of commencement week was the party given by the high school basket ball girls last evening at the home of Miss Vina Petersen.

Progressive games were played with LeRoy Warren and Dean Collier as winners of first and consolation prizes. Refreshments of ice cream and cake were enjoyed.

Those present were Misses Eleanor Ritner, Edith Spangler, Olga Conwell, Harriett Wollaston, Frances Cope, Mary McCormack, Leslie Roberts, Kate Fraser, Rose Petersen, Messrs. Ellis Breeden, Dean Collier, LeRoy Warren, Walter Eaton, Granville Tedford, Chas. Wollaston, Nelson Stafford, John Newcomer, Edgar Vanderlip.

Last Meeting of Ebell

The last meeting of the season, for Ebell Club will be held at Elks Hall next Saturday at 2:30 p. m. After the annual reports have been presented, vocal numbers will be rendered by Miss Susan Ballington Pierce of Los Angeles, Miss Irene Balcom and Miss Elsie Harrison. A reception and refreshments will follow the program.

Pastor and Wife Entertain

Primary-Junior Meeting

The Primary-Junior Union will meet tomorrow afternoon at the First Presbyterian church at 3:30. Miss Brockway will be down from Los Angeles to conduct the meeting and a large attendance is requested.

In Honor of Miss Wichman

June, the month of roses and of weddings, is a month also for "showers"—for brides-to-be. One of these gentle events, so pleasing to the fair maiden about to enter the matrimonial ranks, took place last night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Heninger, who entertained with a dinner party in honor of Miss Katherine Wichman, soon to be married to Charles Harper of Pasadena.

Fragrant sweet peas were used in generous abundance in every room, carrying out a color scheme of pink and white. Piano and mantles were banked with the delicate blossoms and the table decorations were of the same lovely flowers.

The guests of the evening were the girls of the Beta Sigma class, of which Miss Wichman is a member, and several of her Occidental classmates. Dinner was served at 7 o'clock, the honoree's table being in the dining room and another table being set in the living room. Covers were laid for thirty. Besides the host and hostess and their son, Walter, there were present Misses Katherine Wichman, Edna Alger, Edith Culter, Mabel Culter, Bessie Harper, Emeline Petersen, Suzanne Claycomb, Lottie Wells, Fannie Lewis, Bessie Lewis, Edna Blee, Grace and Hazel Rowley, Velda Medlock,

Cane Sugar vs. Beet Sugar

By G. W. Shaw, Expert in Agriculture and Sugar Technology, University of California, Berkeley, California

The relative merits of sugar from beets and that from cane have been a mooted question ever since beet sugar has become such an important factor in the sugar market. The friends of sugar from cane early in the days of the beet sugar industry maintained that beet sugar was repulsive, ill-flavored, ill-looking, and entirely inferior to cane sugar. As soon as it was found that sugar, white and pure from a technical standpoint, could be made in the beet sugar factory directly from beets, and that this sugar would analyze as close to 100 per cent. as the product from cane, the friends of the latter advanced other arguments, especially to the effect that beet sugar could not be used for various purposes for which the older cane product had long been employed. On account of this, and the numerous statements made in public meetings and in the columns of certain newspapers that beet sugar cannot be safely used for purposes of fruit preserving and canning, and the fact that this idea is quite prevalent among housekeepers, cannery men, and confectioners, certain experiments were undertaken in the canning of fruit and the making of jellies, using beet sugar, and checking the results against the same kinds of fruit prepared in the same manner with cane sugar.

The Sources of the Sugar

The sugar from cane was purchased from the Western Sugar Refinery, San Francisco, Cal., and was guaranteed to be from cane. The sugar tested 99.7 per cent. pure sucrose. The beet sugar was made directly from beets grown at Oxnard, Cal., and was manufactured by the American Beet Sugar Company, the sugar having been denated by that company for the purposes of this test. Analysis showed this sugar to be 99.8 per cent pure sugar, and thus fully equal to the cane product in sugar value. Both of these sugars had been "blued" with ultramarine after the common practice in sugar manufacture, and thus was not different from the sugar found on the market.

The Fruit and the Method

The fruits used in the experiments comprised cherries, apricots, plums, peaches and pears. Each of these was preserved in different strengths of syrup in the ordinary methods of canning employed in the commercial canneries as well as after the methods followed in the household practice of canning and jelly-making. In the case of apricots, both peeled and unpeeled fruit were put up after the ordinary canning methods, and in the regular course of work with syrup showing 40 per cent. sugar; with green-gage plums, 10 per cent. syrup was used; with pears, 10, 15, 20, 30, 40 and 50 per cent syrup respectively was used, and with peaches 40 per cent syrup. In most instances all these strengths were used both in the case of sugar from cane and sugar from beets, but in the case of one cannery only beet sugar was used. The several kinds of fruit were placed in cases in the ordinary manner, and stored in rather unfavorable location for a period of two years, cans of each variety being opened from time to time to observe the change, if any. Of the 2000 cans which were thus treated only 6 cans from the beet sugar lot and 7 from the cane sugar lot spoiled during the two years, and these were evidently due to imperfect sealing of the cans, thus showing the utter lack of foundation for the idea that fruit does not keep well when preserved with beet sugar, and that such sugar does not work well in the cannery. In the household trials both apricots and peaches were canned in a 40 per cent syrup, 50 cans in each lot, the ordinary Mason jars being used as containers in each case. From these not a single can spoiled during the two-year period. In the jelly trials apples and currants were used as the basis, equal quantities of juice and sugar being used, and the mixture boiled until the right consistency to jelly. The product in each case was as clear as it is possible for jelly to be, and not the slightest difficulty was experienced in the making of it. Writing of this subject, one of the largest and best known preservers of California fruits says:

"We have used this (beet sugar) very largely in our work for the past four or five years, using it almost exclusively in our fruit department, and we put up as fine goods as can be made. We think that alone speaks well for beet sugar. While it will not cook quite as well as the cane sugar and boils easier, yet with most goods we find it fully as good as the cane sugar. We do not use any antiseptics whatever in our fruits and have no trouble with the keeping qualities. Any other information we can give you, we will be glad to."

In the early days of sugar refining there may possibly have been some foundation for an objection of this kind, but it certainly does not exist today with the most modern methods of manufacture adopted by the beet sugar houses. The utter folly of this idea that beet sugar cannot be used for canning purposes is further emphasized by the fact that practically all the sugar used in Germany and France for the purposes of canning and preserving is from the beet, and for many years American refined sugar was used without complaint in this country because the mass of the people were not aware that it was derived from the beet. This sugar was brought here as raw sugar from Europe, refined at American refineries, and consumers purchased it under the false idea that it was cane sugar. Put as the industry began to grow rapidly in the United States attention was directed to the source of sugar, that there has arisen this popular error, which may have been somewhat fostered by interested parties. People have become so accustomed to the term "cane sugar" that they do not realize that within the last few years the bulk of the world's sugar supply has shifted from cane to beet. In 1853 the world's sugar supply was 1,184,000 long tons, of which 304,000 tons were accredited to the sugar beet, or about 21 per cent. In 1905 practically two-thirds of the world's sugar was derived from the sugar beet. The growth of the industry in the United States has been second only to its growth in the sugar world. As an American industry it is less than forty years old, for it was in 1869 that the first plant to manufacture beet sugar successfully in a commercial way was erected in California. For the first twenty years the industry grew but slowly, so that in 1890 there were but three factories. Before the close of 1901, however, the number had increased to 30 (increase of 900 per cent in ten years), while in 1905 the number of factories in operation in the United States was 61, an increase of over 100 per cent in the past six years, and several new ones are scheduled for the campaign of 1907, not to mention others operating in Canada.

We must admit then, that the industry is quite beyond the experimental stage and has become a reality in this country, and a factor worthy the attention of the people. It is highly desirable that the use of beet sugar should be encouraged in every way possible, and that such mistaken ideas as those indicated at the outset of this discussion should be corrected.

Kamama's Liberal Offer

Big Concert and Vaudeville Show Grows Popular

—From the size of the crowds which are daily crowding the offices of the Great Kamama at the Rossmore hotel, one would imagine that everyone in Santa Ana who is sick was hastening to take advantage of Kamama's liberal offer which runs until June 26th. An hour spent in the office of these physicians shows that people of Santa Ana have faith in them. Two months ago they were practically unknown here, but by the honest dealing and remarkable cures made by these European treatments they have instilled into the minds of all the sick and afflicted the knowledge that they can be cured. There is a reason for the wonderful success of Kamama in Santa Ana. The reason is that their treatments cure. This fact is testified to by the thousands whom they have taken out of the mire of disease and placed upon the rock of health. Never before has there been such a campaign against disease waged within our midst. Never before has there been such enthusiasm aroused. Not only at the offices of Kamama at the Rossmore Hotel, but also at the free show grounds at Fourth and Broadway.

Great Work Will Go On

The work will still go on with the Great Kamama. He has got settled in the city and has caused consternation on all sides. His cures are talked of everywhere and nobody dares dispute that there is something sensational about his work. He has performed operations before the eyes of thousands. He removes tumors, cancers and gallstones without the use of a knife. In general he bars nothing that is curable. (adv.)

LOS ANGELES PRODUCE MARKET
The problem which arose on Monday morning, when all of the Chinese gardeners, with very few exceptions went to the new market, solved itself yesterday morning for the dealers who have their places of business in the vicinity of the old market. The Chinese found in one morning that there were not sufficient purchasers on the new market to take all their goods. As a result they carried their surplus to the old market. The dealers there refused to take their vegetables and left them on the hands of the producers. Merchants declared that unless they could have their products early in the morning, as soon as the growers came to town, they did not care to take them at all. As a result the Chinese growers again appeared around the old market and supplied the wants of the dealers before they proceeded to their old stands. A few of the large commission merchants, realizing that the change in market locations might leave them high and dry for products, righted this condition long before the change came. They secured contracts with a few of the independent Chinese growers, or with the white vegetable farmers, who are in the minority. Business on both of the markets was active. There was plenty of fruit and truck left at noon to supply the small trade.

Egg receipts were light—299 cases. Prices were firm on this account. Eastern receipts are gradually falling off and total receipts this week will be only about four cars. Coast receipts were fair.
There was some weakness in the second grades of butter, and cooking stock sold as low as 22½ a pound on the street. Other varieties were unchanged in actual quotations. Arrivals were heavy—59,211 pounds.
Cheese receipts were 1153 pounds. Cream brick sold at 15½ cents a pound in a jobbing way, indicating that the market is a trifle off on this particular variety. Northern fresh was firm. There were no changes reported.

Three cars of spuds were brought in from the territory just outside the limits described as local, within a radius of 75 miles. Highlands were freely offered at $2.25 a hundred. Locals were steady. There were no onions reported in.

Two $5000 Structures Are Started at Fullerton—Ship-

FULLERTON, June 22.—Work has been commenced on the Amerigo Bros.' new $5000 brick business building, which is to have a frontage of seventy-five feet on Spadra avenue. Ground has also been broken for the H. W. Krug $5000 building to be erected on the same avenue, opposite the postoffice. Each building will contain three large storerooms, and both structures will be rushed to completion.

These carload-lot shipments were made from Fullerton for the week ended last night: Oranges, H. F. Dalrymple, 14; Benchley Fruit Company, 6; Placentia Association, 11; C. C. Chapman, 5. Cabbages, California Vegetable Union, 9; Pinkham & McKivitt, 1. Frank Claudina and C. C. Chapman each received two carloads of hay, and Stern & Goodman shipped one carload.

Appraisers in the estate of J. F. Davis, former Santa Fe agent at Fullerton, were appointed Saturday by the superior court. They are T. N. Pauly, M. R. Armsden, Fred W. Morrison. It is said Davis had $1600 on his person a few nights before he died and that the money has never been located or traced up to the present time.

Robert, the 6-year-old, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. McWhirter of La Habra, sustained a fractured bone and a broken bone in the left arm by a fall from the porch railing. The little fellow was lying on the rail and on hearing someone approaching turned so quickly that he lost his balance and fell, striking on his left arm. Although the distance did not exceed six feet the small bone was broken and the large bone fractured. A physician was at once summoned and the injured limb set. At present the child is getting along nicely, the injury not giving him much pain, but it will be a month before he can use his arm.

Bill Hill is preparing to inaugurate threshing operations which will begin this month. He looks for an excellent yield, and on the Bastanchury ranch expects the largest crop ever harvested there.

DEAFNESS CANNOT BE CURED

—by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

AMUSEMENTS

"Going Up!"

Dr. Roberts has a balloon! Manager Roberts of the Temple Theatre has not exactly entered the Aero field against the Wright Bros., but now that the secret is out, he is ready to admit that he has secured a balloon, a mammoth balloon, which he calls "The Entertainer." The balloon will arrive in Santa Ana early tomorrow, Thursday, morning and will be immediately placed into position to be inflated for the first of the two free ascensions to be given this week. Effie Hill, Queen of the Air, will leave the earth at noon, tomorrow, in her flight above the clouds, with a parachute leap for life. The second free balloon ascension will be made from the same place, Temple Theatre, on Saturday of this week, June 26th, at noon. Tomorrow night and Friday and Saturday nights, "Alumino" will walk a live wire, charged with electricity, in front of the Temple Theatre, at 7:45, and the Columbia Band will give a free concert commencing at 7:30 in front of the Temple. Send word to all of your friends to come in and see all of the big free attractions. The stage performance at the Temple Theatre, for Thursday and Friday nights will be over two hours long so only one show will be given on each of those nights. Admission 10 and 15 cents. Reserved seats 25 cents. Balcony 5 and 10 cents.

THE KANSAS TIN SHOP

Is still "doin' business" at the old stand. A good assortment of aluminum ware has come in this week and there are six dozen (72) of those small stew pans that the manufacturers in Lemont, Ill., send out to advertise aluminum goods. These stew pans we sell a ten (10) cents each. We had two dozen (24) with a shipment last winter and they went so quick we thought to get more of them this time. In order to see how nice aluminum ware is come and get one of those pure aluminum stew pans and pay ten (10) cents for it. Come and see.
